Auckland, with a population of 1.25 million, is often termed the "City of Sails" because of the great number of yachts that sail in the harbours and adjoining Hauraki Gulf. It lies between two harbours, the Manukau and the Waitemata and is surrounded by 11 dormant volcanoes and numerous picturesque islands. The Waitakere Ranges to the west of the city forms a gateway to magnificent west coast surf beaches and an abundance of bush walks.

An excellent remuneration package and relocation assistance is offered, together with the opportunity for a pathway to management and partnership.
